a blind detective rises to the occasion following the suspicious death of a blind financier in this mystery by the author of odor of violets following the loss of his sight in world war i ex intelligence officer capt duncan maclain honed his other senses and became one of the most successful and well known private investigators in new york city the miners title and trust is typically dead quiet having gone bankrupt then late one evening the bank s blind president blake hadfield plummets eight stories to his death in the building s lobby the only witnesses are the security guard and Blake's estranged wife who were both on the first floor. Blake's son Seth is found drunk and dazed on the eighth floor, making him the prime suspect in what the police believe to be a murder. That's when Harold Lawson and Sybilla Ford call upon Captain Maclain for help. Maclain doesn't think the banker's death was a suicide or an accident; he believes someone else was in the building. Now, with the help of his two German Shepherds, Maclain must begin investigating the complicated life of the senior Hadfield. But if the sightless sleuth isn't careful, he could meet a similar end. Baynard Kendrick was the first American to enlist in the Canadian Army during World War I. While in London, he met a blind English soldier whose observational skills inspired the character of Capt. Duncan Maclain. Kendrick was also a founding member of the Mystery Writers of America and winner of the organization's Grand Master Award.

A blind detective separates fact from fiction to save an innocent writer in this mystery by the author of Blind Man's Bluff. Following the loss of his sight in World War I, ex-intelligence officer Capt. Duncan Maclain honed his other senses and became one of the most successful and well-known private investigators in New York City. Acclaimed novelist Larmar Jordan and his wife Lucia are throwing a cocktail party in their luxury Fifth Avenue apartment. Among the guests are their friend Sybilla Ford and her fiancé, Duncan Maclain. Everyone is in high spirits until the arrival of Larmar's mistress, Troy Singleton. Maclain may be unable to see, but even he can tell that certain partygoers are far from pleased by her presence. However, the real drama unfolds when Troy returns the following day only to wind up dead on the terrace. The police are certain Larmar pulled the trigger; he was the only person home at the time, and the murder weapon came from his extensive gun collection. But he didn't do it. At Lucia's request, Maclain takes the case. Now the sightless sleuth must quickly unravel this twisted tale of murder before the judge throws the book at Larmar.
